

1—Miss Virginia Heal of Swampscott, Mass., daughter of Anne Hathaway, the poetess, who is going to Belgium to drive an ambulance for L'Aide Civile et Militaire Belge. 2—Members of the heroic "Legion of Death," composed of Russian women, drilling in skirmish formation. 3—Republican soldiers of China marching back to their barracks after helping suppress the attempt to restore the Manchú emperor.

TURNING OUT UNCLE SAM'S AIR FLEET

General scene in an airplane manufacturing plant showing line-up of machines almost finished and ready for the government's service. This factory turns out scores of machines each month.

GENERAL CURRIE KNIGHTED ON THE FIELD

Brig. Gen. Sir Arthur Currie, the first native Canadian to head the Canadian overseas fighting forces, being knighted by King George on his majesty's recent visit to the western front.

PREPARING TO PHOTOGRAPH THE WAR

The war department has called upon a group of expert photographers to organize a photograph division of the signal corps, which will do all the camera work for the United States in the war zone. Several of these experts are here shown examining a new model camera.

LEADS LEGION OF DEATH

Mme. Botchkarev, leader of the "Legion of Death," the organization of Russian women who are fighting heroically on the eastern battle line. Mme. Botchkarev, who was wounded in battle, is shown wearing several decorations bestowed on her for valor.

Hayti Sweetly Grateful.
Grateful for what the United States has done for it under the recent treaty, the republic of Hayti, it was announced by bankers, would add about 70,000,000 pounds of sugar to this country's supply next season. This supply will be the first year's output of the Haytian-American corporation, formed immediately after the American protectorate was inaugurated, insuring protection for foreign capital. The corporation expected to ship here only about 20,000,000 pounds of sugar, but to meet desire of the United States government for increased food supplies, the company has found it possible to more than treble its shipments to the United States.—New York American.

SHOWING KING GEORGE NEW WAYS OF ATTACK

When King George recently visited the British front in France he was given demonstrations of new methods of attack. The photograph shows a liquid fire attack made for his benefit. At the right is his majesty in the steel helmet he wore at the front.

BASTILLE DAY PARADE IN PARIS

The One Hundred and Fifty-second regiment, one of the most distinguished in the French army, marching in the parade in Paris on the fourteenth of July. At the left one of the battle-torn standards carried in the parade.

GOLD TRIBUTE FOR JOFFRE

Paul Gillott of New York working on the solid gold cluster of oak leaves and acorns that will be presented to Marshal Joffre on the anniversary of the battle of the Marne as a tribute from residents of New York city.

Old Studies Going.

The use of Greek, Latin and mathematics in the higher education of America is declining. In a few years, says the Youth's Companion, it will be as rare for a student to know Greek as today it is for him to know Hebrew; and it will not take more than a generation or two for Latin to follow the same course. How long the higher reaches of mathematics—those noble and inviting reaches in which philosophy, poetry and imagination combine to play with the intricacies of space and the notation of time—will continue to find extensive educational use is also a question.

The Pourboire.

Lord Eustace Percy is renowned for his quick, sharp wit. In New York he took a taxicab to his hotel and duly paid and tipped the chauffeur on his arrival. But the chauffeur, accustomed to our American extravagance, seemed to think the tip too small. "What's this here for, my lord?" he said, and he looked at the coin in his hand with some contempt. Lord Eustace, as he turned away, replied, curtly: "Drink, I'm inclined to think, judging by your nose."—Washington Star.

CARRYING AMMUNITION IN MACEDONIA

This French official photograph shows the Col de Cegel in Macedonia, where ammunition is transported up the mountain side by means of carriages suspended from an aerial trolley.

DUMMY SOLDIER GETS HALF THE BULLETS

This dummy at the left of the live soldier is made of papier mache, costs very little and is designed to draw many of the German bullets.